EDUCATION BUILDING BOOM SPEEDS ONWARD; 3 PROJECTS

Elementary School

Kettering Laboratory, New School, North Hall Progress

By Jim Troester

The clatter of construction work in Yellow Springs is competing with the clatter of the cicadas these days. The song of the male cicada may be sweet music to its mate, but no sweeter, we'd imagine, than what the constructive noise of the workers on three local building projects, is to the civic-minded residents of the town.

And the justifiable pride will be even greater when the three projects are completed. They are: The Kettering Foundation building and the reconstruction of North Hall at the college and the beautiful new elementary school for Yellow Springs.

Work on the Kettering building began in mid-March and is expected to be completed in mid-January, 1954. When in complete operation 50 to 200 people will be employed at the research center; 25 people will be employed at the start of operations.

The three-story brick laboratory building with 3000 square feet of floor space will consolidate all the Kettering research on photosynthesis into one building with the exception of small contract work now being done by other university laboratories.

The Kettering research on photosynthesis, that mysterious way in which the energy of the sun is utilized by all growing plants, first began at Antioch when Charles F. Kettering gave the science building to the college in 1930. In recent years work on this project has also been done in Mr. Kettering's own laboratory in Dayton. Both the work at the science building and the work being done in Dayton will be moved to the new building upon its completion.

The $500,000 building is being constructed by the Maxon Construction Company of Dayton. Lorenz and Williams of Dayton are the architects.

Harold Tanner, director of research for the foundation will be in charge of the Yellow Springs laboratory.

Another building project made possible by the Kettering Foundation will be the new Antioch College Library, which will be located on South College Street between the science building and the gymnasium. Ground will be broken on this project early next spring.

An interesting fact on the reconstruction of Old North Hall is that a fire like the one which destroyed the structure in February will be prevented by the new steel flooring. Corrugated steel floor reinforcements are now in the process of being installed. This steel will support a four-inch reinforced concrete floor and will serve as a ceiling for the floor below.

ACA To Sponsor Edmiston Talks Friday Evening

A patriotic lecture open to the public designed to alert citizens to the dangers of Communism will be held at the Yellow Springs high school gymnasium under the auspices of the Association For Civic Action in Miami township on Friday, June 12, beginning at 8 p. m.

Featured speakers will be Martha and Ed Edmiston, former undercover agents for the FBI. Mr. and Mrs. Edmiston are well-known in Ohio for their stimulating and informative talks concerning their personal experiences in the Communist party.

While living in Columbus in 1939 the couple observed the activities of the Communist party and being alarmed at what they saw and heard, they contacted the FBI and, within a few months were trusted party members, but were making daily reports to the FBI. They were expelled from the party in 1941 when their undercover activities were discovered. It is from this background that the two draw upon to give their comprehensive talks to gatherings in the Miami Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmiston are now living in Waynesville. A former attorney and newspaperman, he is now employed with an advertising agency in Dayton and Mrs. Edmiston is public information officer at Wright Patterson Air Force Base.

A spokesman for the Association For Civic Action states that the public is invited to the meeting Friday and that there is no admission charge.

THE PURPOSE, AIMS AND POLICY OF THIS NEWSPAPER

This newspaper—the Yellow Springs American—comes to you today as an augmentary organ of Greene County events and beliefs. It is fitting, therefore, that we state the purpose of our existence, the aims of our common endeavors and the policy of our operation. It also is proper and fair that we correct certain false rumor that has been spread, inadvertently or purposely, as to the reason for the birth of this newspaper.

THE PLAIN, unvarnished fact is that this newspaper seeks to render a service to a wide segment of Greene County including Yellow Springs. Our goal will be to aid in the advancement of the Yellow Springs area; to give voice to all men with worthy causes, denying none; to protect all the freedoms the American public now enjoys; to disseminate news happenings as they occur; to criticize that which is not good for the majority of the people and to condone and praise that which endeavors to build the town, playing puppet to no special interest but for the good of all mankind everywhere.

WE DO NOT SEEK TO REPLACE ANY NEWSPAPER NOW BEING PRINTED IN YELLOW SPRINGS OR ELSEWHERE.

We believe in the right of free enterprise as guaranteed by the United States Constitution and ask only that we may operate this enterprise on an equitable and just business basis.

Those are our purposes and aims. Our policy is to be free in the editing of the news and the selection of our material for editorial comment—the right of any newspaper—and to be always upright, frank and fair in the printed presentation of such material.

AT NO TIME will we seek to undermine the Yellow Springs News or any other newspaper, even though we may disagree upon occasion with views as presented in other papers. Their views are their own, guaranteed them by the blood and sweat in our forefathers' fight for freedom and independence. And while we may take an opposite view at times, we ask only that we have the same right to present our own views. Like Voltaire, although we might disagree with what others say, we will defend unto the death their right to say it.

ANY EDITOR who expresses his opinions in a frank manner, and with courage continues to stand on his convictions is more to be admired than condemned. It is not at all American to condemn a man simply because his beliefs do not coincide with yours. That was one of the concepts upon which this country was founded.

We seek subsidy from no source and will try only to operate this enterprise on a sound, fair and friendly competitive business basis so that our only allegiance is to the people who buy and read this newspaper.

Our hope is that we may be a welcome addition to your homelife each week and our aim is to serve you.

Cedarville and Jamestown Cop Twin Bill in CCSL Play

Twin bill action in the Cedarville Community Softball League Friday night before more than 800 fans saw the Oliver Corp. go down to defeat at the hands of Cedarville AC in the opener 4-3, and the Jamestown nine top Leahy's Shamrocks of Xenia in the nightcap 4-2.

The opening game saw all tallies scored in the sixth inning as Oliver Corp. pushed home three runs on a pair of singles and a home run. Cedar AC came back with a single, two triples and a home run to cop the win. The AC rally was started on a single by pitcher Chet Jones.

Three big runs in the last of the fourth inning spelled doom for the Shamrocks as a rally-starting single by pitcher Guy Easter, followed by homers by Ed Brill and Jack Richardson, accounted for the Jamestown tallies. Leahy's picked up its two runs in the top of the fourth.

Tuesday night action will return to the Cedarville park with the South Charleston Merchants playing Jamestown in the first game and Cedarville AC going against Morris Bean in the finale. Summary:

THE LIVE WIRE

By Jack Cochran

This is the season of the year that the merchants and industries are asking themselves how they ever got along without the valuable aid of Bryan High School students. The service stations around town seem to employ more than their share of high school students and recent graduates. Don Williams is the boss of his shift at the Sohio Station. Dave Hull and Harold Gibbs are employed at Beal's Marathon station. There is always a friendly business rivalry between this crew and Morriswise and Lee Johnston who are employed by the Pure Oil Station. Harold Blackwood are responsible for the trimmed hedge and other maintenance jobs at Carr's nursery. You can not go into Furay's drugstore without seeing the smiling faces of three sophomore girls, Marcia Oleslager, Shirley Miller, and Evelyn Garmen. Jolly Bixler is helping at the College on the maintenance crew. Ronnie Lingo is learning the carpentry trade from his father as he is helping him in his father as he is helping his father landscape houses.

If you are wondering what these people are doing in their spare time you might go into the mills house on the second floor. There you would see the makings of a teen canteen. It will be open very shortly for all high school pupils and recent graduates between the ages of twelve and eighteen. It consists of three rooms where the activities will range from ping-pong, pool, and other competitive games to dancing to the music of a juke box. The plans now are for the painting to start Monday. A few more things along the carpentry line are still needed to be done. Pat Sayer reports that four couches have been donated and any furniture, magazines and labor would be appreciated.

The senior girl scout troop consisting of Gabriele Knecht, Eleanor Wise, Elizabeth Whitmore, Diantha Whitmore, Louisa Rothermund, Xarifa Sallume, Joan Schickedantz, and their advisor, Mrs. Benham were finally rewarded for all their hard work trying to raise enough funds for a trip to New York City. They left Yellow Springs by train at about 5:30 A. M., Monday and arrived in New York at 9 A. M., Tuesday. They saw all the sights of New York including the U. N. Building which greatly impressed them. Their trip was highlighted by attending the hit Broadway play, The King and I. They left New York on Friday evening and arrived in Yellow Springs the next morning, tired but safe.

More teen news over the Live Wire in two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard McKnight and family of Cincinnati were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Rittenour and daughter, Susan.

Joe Zeller Hurls 3-Hitter As Yellow Springs Edges Lewis Corners Tuesday

Behind the stellar three-hit pitching of Joe Zeller, the Yellow Springs softball squad eked out a hard-earned 1-0 decision from the Lewis Corners nine in a regular Clark County open league game Tuesday evening to bring their season's total up to four wins and two losses.

Fritts, the opposing hurler also did a sterling job by holding the locals to three hit, but a 4th inning three-bagger by "Deacon" Dolwick brought home Sam Icluda with the winning tally. For the locals it was the season's second win over Lewis Corners. In the opening encounter of the 1953 season, Yellow Springs demolished them, 6-3.

Carl Knoedel and Icluda were the only other local players Tuesday to his safety, each garnering a single.

Last Friday evening on the local diamond a reshuffled version of the local aggregation succumbed to Kugler's Radio by a 8-4 margin although they outlived the winners, 10-4. Costly errors in the 3rd and 7th innings when the visitors scored three markers each, was the contributing factor to the club's downfall.

Top hitters for the locals Friday were Don Shinkle, with 2 for 3 and Bob Van Pelt with 2 for 4. Perry Stewart went the route for the losers and allowed only the four hits, but ragged support marked the defeat.

Yellow Springs will meet Steel Products of Springfield on the local diamond at 8 P. M., Friday evening. Next Tuesday the squad will play Kuglers in a league game at Springfield Lagonda Park beginning at 8:30.

Several members of the Jamestown Grange met with the Xenia Grange last Friday evening.

'Don't Want Electric Rate Case', DP&L Tells Yellow Springs Council

"We have never had a rate case. We don't want one. We value public relations too much. We have nothing to hide, but the situation is acute."

These were the words of Herbert Nonneman, wholesale contract executive of the Dayton Power and Light Company as he appeared before village council Monday evening, asking for a 20 per cent increase in gas rates in Yellow Springs.

Mr. Nonneman further stated at the special meeting that "I am making no threats, but just stating facts as I know them." He then elaborated on the two alternatives available to the company: (1) A rate-fixing contract with the council in the form of an ordinance and (2) A rate case with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

He explained that, while his company had no intention of filing a rate case, this increase would be easily okayed because the PUCO believes "a reasonable return on investment property of this type is 6 per cent." He further stated that the Dayton company is now operating at 3.9 per cent return and gave exact facts and figures from a 1952 company income statement to support his statement.

The new rate being asked in the various towns the company serves would then bring the company earnings up to 4.3 per cent return, a figure the speaker termed low.

He stated that they are seeking minimum relief from the old rate which would mean a minimum increase to the consumer. Pointing to the comprehensive chart he had brought for the council to see, Nonneman declared that the new rate would be lower than the average of 100 towns served by other companies in Ohio.

"We have bent over backwards to arrive at a rate that would not be exorbitant, and many towns (and he named them) have voluntarily accepted the rate increase once the true facts were presented."

Earlier the company spokesman cited the fact that the cost of wholesale gas had gone up 40 per cent since 1940 and that other costs including payroll have trebled. He noted that in the same period the gas rate in Yellow Springs had not gone up.

"We are trying to do two things. Increase and standardize rates in all towns," the speaker remarked. He then named the towns that had already accepted the rate increase.

"If you are concerned about public opinion and well you should be, the opinion in most towns has been this: 'Well, we expected a raise, but we thought it'd be more than that.' He then cited neighboring Jamestown as an example, where in a council-conducted test of public opinion after the company's case had been publicized, "70 per cent voted for the increase."

After Mr. Nonneman's talk, it was brought out that council is not authorized to pass the rate-fixing ordinance as an emergency measure. The ordinance was read, but there was no voting on the first reading and action was postponed until the next regular meeting on June 15 at which time, if council thinks it feasible, the rules may be suspended and the ordinance passed.

Leonard Nelson, DP and L district manager was also present at the special meeting.

Well Child Clinic Cares For 19

Bible School Attendance Still Growing

With each day bringing new pupils to the Daily Vacation Bible School, the enrollment continues to grow taxing all available facilities, according to the Cedarville Ministerial appointed directors Rev. James Patterson and Rev. C. Wilbert Sterner.

Highlights this week included taking movie pictures of teachers and pupils by photographer Nelson Creswell. These pictures will be made available for the local churches in assisting with next years pre-registration.

The picnic Friday finished this weeks school activities with the closing exercises to be held Sunday at 7:30 P. M. in the United Presbyterian Church.

Immediately following this program for the parents, the pupils of the D. V. B. S. will take home their work projects completed during the two week Bible school.

The large expense of the school, due to the record breaking enrollment, will be cared for by a free-will offering Sunday night at the closing program.

Genial Yellow Springs Police Chief Sees Department Grow in Service in Seven Years

By Jim Treaster

Law enforcement is essential to the life of any community and nowhere is there any better group of law enforcement officials than in Yellow Springs. Residents of the village can indeed be proud of the workings of their police department and of the men who provide the manpower to protect our lives and our property.

A familiar figure around Yellow Springs is genial Police Chief Russell A. Bradley or "Brad" as he is known to most. During the almost seven years since Chief Bradley has been with the department, improvement and forward-looking developments in the protection of the town have been rapidly forthcoming. And no small part is due to the devotion to duty and the inspired leadership of Bradley.

But the modest, young (he's 33) Millboro, Kentucky native is the first to emphasize that a chief of police is no better than the men under him. He cites the ability of his two assistants, Ealor Boggs and Charles Cantwell, as being no less instrumental in the improved protection of the village than himself. But since this article is about the number one man in the department, let's take a short look at the man.

"Brad" has a varied background which includes working at Wright-Hatterston Air Force Base and the ownership of a taxi business in Yellow Springs. Paradoxical as it seems, the taxi business in what brought him to town in the first place. He founded what, we have been told, was the first successful full-time taxi company in Yellow Springs in 1946 and shortly thereafter was appointed as a deputy in the department while still running the taxi business. When appointed Chief of Police in 1953, Bradley still retained management of the taxi business, but devoted full-time to his police duties.

From 1945 until he sold the business to the Nicholson Brothers in 1949, Chief Bradley's wife, Ruby, helped in the operation of the cab, which included driving duties. The couple reside at 602 Livermore with their three children, Ollie Jay, 15, Barbara, 14 and Ronnie, 10. Much of Mrs. Bradley's time at present is taken up with a telephone answering service in their home. She also answers calls to the police department when no one is in the department office through an extension in their home.

At the present time the department boasts of one radio-equipped cruiser owned by the town and two privately-owned cars which are also radio-equipped and hence, can be used in emergencies. The radio equipment in these cars also belongs to the town.

Behind the purchase of the mobile radio sets lies a story typical of the spirit and determination of the man. In 1948 the only way to contact a police official was to call someone at the power plant, who in turn would see that the emergency light on the Xenia street downtown was lighted. A patrolman seeing this light would then know that he was wanted. Brad, realizing that this was wholly inadequate protection for a town of nearly 3500 residents, went before council with the suggestion that two mobile sets be purchased. The village mayor had previously discussed the need for mobile sets with Bradley and while many everyone in authority in the town agreed that the sets were needed, money was not available.

It was then that Chief Bradley asked permission of council if he could get the money by private solicitation. This was okayed, a three-man committee was formed consisting of Bradley, Russ Stewart and Paul Furey. Through the efforts of these men and the contributions of many, many Yellow Springs citizens, the $1300 was raised to buy the first two mobile radio sets. An additional set was purchased for the department later through a used goods and sale. Bradley also being highly instrumental in the formation of this idea for added funds.

Although each member of the department is theoretically set up on a 48-hour week, the chief is on call at all times and does a double shift on Saturdays. He works from 8 until 4 Saturday afternoon and then back again at 10:30 until dawn as does the 4 to 12 patrolman. This added protection on Saturday nights and early Sundays is needed according to Bradley, because of the number of people who are in the town during those hours. Another little known fact about the department is that the town is afforded cruiser protection on a 24-hour basis.

The work of the local department is closely co-ordinated with the Sheriff's office in Xenia and the Xenia Post 29 of the State Highway Patrol, just five miles north of Yellow Springs. The cruiser office is monitored with the Sheriff's office and the Wilmington post of the Patrol, calls then being relayed to the Xenia Patrol Post.

Another facet of the work of the department concerns the summertime swimming project which was initiated three years ago and which is open to all boys in the town under competent police supervision. The department furnishes transportation to and from the Orion Pool at John Bryan

State Park and provides swimming lessons by a patrolman. Funds are provided to the boys unable to pay by excess funds from the local goods exchange under the supervision of Mrs. Clyde Adams.

Supervision and instruction in proper traffic control and courtesy of the 19 boys in the school safety patrol is still another activity that warrants a policeman's time. The boys, ranging in age from 8-13 are elected from their class rooms and choose their own Lieutenant and Captain.

"These boys are an integral part of the law enforcement of the community and the good that they do can never be overemphasized," Chief Bradley declared.

Through excess funds from the goods exchange run by Mrs. Clyde Adams the boys have been able to enjoy summer outings per year, which include trips to see the Cincinnati Reds play, trips to London Prison Farm and airplane rides. They are also to receive certificates at the end of each year denoting their service to the cause of traffic safety.

This safety patrol activity by members of the department is one type of personal contact with the children and young people of Yellow Springs by which Bradley hopes to install in them the respect for the law and the police. It's also good assurance that in the future Yellow Springs will hold on to its low crime rate, an honor any town has a right to be proud of.

A most recent innovation in the control of traffic throughout Yellow Springs is the portable electrical speed control unit, which was recently purchased by the department and put in use just in the past ten days. This type of control device has been used with marked success in other towns, Bradley declared, but added that it was no speed trap, but just an attempt on the part of the local department to allay complaints of speeding on Xenia and other avenues through town.

All in all, a policeman's life is not an easy life and especially a police chief's life, but personal satisfaction in a job well done can be a great compensation in police work.

LADIES AID MEETS

Mrs. Warner Cummings entertained the Ladies Aid of the Grape Grove Church of Christ at her home Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Oscar Smith conducted the business meeting, appointing a nominating committee to select officers for next year and also a committee to plan the annual picnic to be held in August.

Mrs. Cummings served delightful refreshments during the social hour.

1835 - History of the Xenia National Bank - 1953

June 1st, 1835 John Hivling opened a private bank in Xenia, the first bank in Greene County of which there is any record. In the year 1845 the State of Ohio General Assembly established a State Banking System under the control of commissioners appointed by the governor. John Hivling, whose bank at Xenia had joined the State System, was one of those commissioners and his bank was known as Ohio State Bank, Xenia Branch. The branches issued bank notes and several of Xenia Branch notes are in the possession of a Xenia resident.

The Xenia Branch was located in the building known today as the Message Building on the corner of Detroit and Second Streets. The old cash vault of this bank is still intact and is used by the Western Union office.

The Xenia Branch Bank continued to operate successfully until 1863 when the first National Bank Act was passed under the guidance of Salmon P. Chase, Lincoln's Secretary of the Treasury. Under this act all banks which joined the system were chartered for twenty years. The Board of Directors of the Xenia Branch applied for a national charter under the name of The First National Bank of Xenia, Ohio. This organization continued in business in the old location until 1866 when they purchased the lot on the southeast corner of Main and Detroit Streets and erected the present building on this lot, which has undergone very little outside changes since it was constructed. At this corner The First National continued business until its twenty-year charter expired and in 1883 it applied for a new charter, asking that the name be changed to The Xenia National Bank, its present name.

..During all of the 118 years of continuous banking, this organization has enjoyed the confidence and patronage of the people of this community for which we express our sincere appreciation. We have safely and securely piloted our patrons through The Mexican War, The War Between the States, The Spanish-American War, The First World War, The Second World War and are carefully and faithfully carrying on in this our "Police Action in Korea." We have seen depressions and booms come, and go, and have guided our bank safely through them all.

With firm faith in the people of our community, we look forward to many years of pleasant and mutually profitable association.

We Want You To Feel You Are Always Welcome: That Your Financial Problem Will Get a Respectful, Sympathetic Hearing.

Salute To Competition

A businessman has a plaque on a wall above his desk which reads as follows:

"My competitors do more for me than my friends do; my friends are too polite to point out my weaknesses, but my competitors go to great expense to advertise them."

"My competitors are efficient, diligent and attentive; they make me search for ways to improve my products and services."

"My competitors would take my business away from me, if they could; this keeps me alert to hold what I have."

"If I had no competitors I would be lazy, incompetent, inattentive; I need the discipline they enforce upon me."

"I salute my competitors; they have been good to me. God Bless them all!"

Business competition takes many forms. Sometimes it is in price. Other times it is in the quality of service. Other times still it is in some innovation which people find interesting and attractive. Whatever the form, competition—which exists in its true state only in a free economy—is the greatest force for progress that exists.

Happy Combination

From the health standpoint, meat is a first class buy.

The average American, according to a Department of Agriculture study, spends 24 per cent of his food budget for meat. The meat he gets in return for this expenditure supplies 63 per cent of the necessary protein, 47 per cent of the necessary food iron, 28 per cent of the necessary phosphorous, 42 per cent of the necessary vitamin B-1, 24 per cent of the necessary vitamin B-2, 79 per cent of the necessary niacin and substantial amounts of other B vitamins.

The importance of substantial meat consumption to mental and physical vigor has been proved beyond question in recent years. Much was learned during World War II, when it was found that the strength and endurance of American fighting men resulted in large part from the high meat content in the diet adopted by the services. And medical studies and experiments have shown that meat is of direct and lasting benefit to people suffering from a long list of illnesses—including some that, in past days, were believed to require a diet containing little or no meat.

Almost everyone. Likes meat—and meat is good for almost everyone. That makes a happy combination of circumstances.

Lost In The Shuffle

Writing in the Oregon Voter on that eternal problem, taxation, Ralph T. Moore said, "The idea of taking from each in accord with ability to pay . . . was irresistible in the days when we had the rich to tax. But it is losing its glamour in these days when the poor man finds that he is the fellow with the presumed ability to pay. Somehow the ability part has been lost in the shuffle. Only the pay part remains."

The lowest federal income tax is 22.2 per cent and it applies only to taxable incomes under $2,000. In other words, those with extremely modest means must pay out almost a quarter of their taxable earnings to the U. S. Treasury—and the rate rises very swiftly thereafter. All other taxes must be piled on top of this levy. The great masses of the people have the most to gain from economy in government.

"The plain fact is that good government comes from good men."—The Wall Street Journal

THE AMERICAN WAY

Behind The Scenes in American Business . . .

By Reynolds Knight

Ever since World War II ended, annual battles over wage rates have been based on the contention that wages weren't keeping up with prices.

This year wages have stayed up and prices have receded. Even so, this does not mean that wage demands have been silenced.

United Steelworkers demand a substantial raise, amount not specified. Benjamin Fairless of U. S. Steel says there's nothing doing. United Auto Workers insist that their long contract with General Motors be altered to provide that the cost-of-living escalator which carried wages up shall be disconnected before it takes them down again.

STEEL NEGOTIATIONS will probably decide the outcome once more. This is because steel is vital to all industry. When steel costs—and steel prices—rise, other price rises become inevitable. The steel users simply tack on a little more and with it pacify their working forces.

No other industry is in a similar key position. If the Fairless stand is unyielding—and not a prelude, as some expect, to a 5-cent boost in hourly pay—we have probably seen the last general pay raise for a while. But not, possibly, the last big steel strike.

FIGHTING PLASTICS—A trend toward greater use of plastics in America's combat airplanes is reflected in Republic Aviation Corp.'s new F-84F Thunderstreak, now being produced in volume at the company's main plant in Farmingdale, N. Y.

More than 1500 plastic parts—valued at close to $7000—go into the sweeping fighter-bomber, in contrast to a figure of approximately $3500 for models in Republic's Thunderjet series.

In addition to being lighter and stronger, plastic parts cost about a third as much as do metal ones to do the same job. Resultant savings, say Republic officials, will amount to millions yearly.

THINGS TO COME—A Maryland company has devised a water cut-off to fit between the business end of the hose and the water sprinkler, so you needn't walk back to the faucet to shut it off . . . Nylon bearings replace steel balls in a new line of hinges. No rust, no squeak, no oiling . . . Plastic of the polystyrene family makes a new guitar. First one cost $350,000, yielded know-how sufficient to make later ones for $30 . . . Awkward servers of drinks will welcome a tray with eight cork-lined wells for the glasses . . . Now there's a handbag with a light like a refrigerator. Goes on when you open the bag so you can see what's inside.

VITAL TO OUTPUT—A half-century of development has seen installment buying become the essential mass financing underpinning of American mass production. Economists and business leaders watch installment loan totals as a barometer of financial well-being.

Credit is healthy today. Arthur O. Dietz, president of C. I. T. Financial Corporation told stockholders at the recent annual meeting. Despite the postwar boom, all consumer credit outstanding in January, 1941. Mr. Dietz said:

"The majority of economists as well as many government officials agree that the volume of installment credit is not excessive." On consumer credit in general he observed:

"If markets were restricted to customers who could pay cash for goods the economics of mass production would largely disappear . . . Prices of automobiles, refrigerators, kitchen ranges and the like would be out of reach of most American families."

MUSICAL CHAIRS—A New York management firm found American companies since the war adding executives 46 per cent faster and losing them 29 per cent faster than they did in 1938-42, in a check of 100 companies in 14 industries.

Reasons for leaving: First, to take bigger job. Second, to have bigger future. Third, to make more money. Fourth, fighting with old boss. One-sixth of the job leavers were simply laid off.

The difference between those added and those departing is accounted for by industrial expansion and retirements and deaths. There still seems a lot of room for an agile job-seeker to find a seat in the shuffle.

BITS O' BUSINESS—Auto production fell 5 percent from the week of April 20 to that of April 27, but was still 52 per cent above the year-ago week . . . First-quarter profits of 27 major industries were 10 per cent ahead of last year's . . . Lenders said they would find more mortgage money now VA home loans yield 4½ per cent . . . The National Bureau of Economic Research reports the rich have been getting poorer and the poor richer every year since 1939, thus spoiling a fine old gag. Who gets the children, now?

What Other Writers Say . . .

Good Citizens

In the highly competitive retail field it is a time-tried axiom that business goes where it is invited and stays where it is well treated.

As part of their constant program of giving better service to customers many retailers, both chain and independent, are working with towns and cities in which they are located to help iron out the problems that harass legions of communities today. Anybody who has ever tried to park a car on a busy downtown street can certainly appreciate the magnitude of the job to be done.

This is just one more way in which the local retailer, serving his own best interest, is a good citizen of the community. By helping his home town he helps himself.

Keep After Reds

Criticism of the Un-American Activities Committee sounds hollow when set against the recent statement of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. He said the Reds are busy in every field of American activity, and that they are working more intensively than ever.

Unless we wish to brush off the alarms of one of the head men, we had better be on our guard. This doesn't mean we should call everybody who disagrees with us a Communist. It does mean we can't afford to let critics stop such investigations, unless the critics offer a better method of exposing subversives.

After Mr. Hoover's warning we can see that an entire organization should not be condemned if evidences of Red influence are found in its background. With few exceptions, such evidence is to be discovered in all our groups. Churches, schools, clubs, social, political, and educational organizations have been infiltrated, and are still in danger.

During the 30's many intellectual Americans were beguiled into becoming fellow travelers with Communists. Fabian Socialism was also transplanted here from England and thousands of our young people flocked to its banners.

It is to our everlasting shame that so many were ready to desert our principles at the first hint of financial trouble. With magnificent resources at our command, and an administration which moved quickly to improve conditions, thousands of men and women joined forces with a gang which is out to destroy our Government.

In many respects, it is a black page in American history . . . Mrs. Walter Ferguson in Scripps-Howard Newspapers.

On Their Own Doorstep

For the first time, weekly newspapers have won the Pulitzer prize for "disinterested and meritorious public service." They are the Whiteville (N. C.) News Reporter and the Taber City (N. C.) Tribune.

These papers were cited "for their successful campaign against the Ku Klux Klan, waged on their own doorstep at the risk of economic loss and personal danger, culminating in the conviction of over 100 Klansmen and an end to terrorism in their communities."

We have often thought how easy it is for the editor of a big city daily to sit back in his easy chair and prescribe nostrums for social ills in the hinterlands, and how difficult it must be for the country editor to take positions which he knows in reason will subject him to financial, if not physical, reprisal. The small town editor deals not so much with intellectual abstractions as with his neighbors on a personal basis.

And so it seems to us that the editors of the two weeklies in North Carolina have performed in the finest traditions of a free press and are fully deserving of the highest honor their journalistic colleagues are capable of conferring. We salute them for doing a good job "on their own doorstep." That is always the best, but seldom the easiest, place for reform. — Toledo Blade

Around and About Greene County..

Here is the schedule of events for Sesquicentennial Week in Greene County as released last week by Robert Selter, chairman of the Pageant committee for the event. Keep it handy.

Sunday, June 28 - Religious Freedom Day. Religious services will be highlighted throughout the county.

Monday, June 29 - Official Sesqui Week Opening. Visiting Dignitaries et al. Coronation of the pageant spectacle queen at first performance of "Out of the Wilderness" at Xenia Fairgrounds.

Tuesday, June 30 - Agriculture Day.

Wednesday, July 1 - This is the one the kids will be waiting for. Greene County Parade Day. Many floats and marching units from all over the county in mammoth Xenia parade. Cash prizes.

Thursday, July 2 - Honoring the pioneers and early settlers of the county. Pilgrimages to the various historical places and homes of the county will be made. The Greene County Historical Museum and the Galloway Cabin will be open for inspections.

Friday, July 3 - Children's pet and decorated bicycle parade. All county youngsters invited to participate. Special children's prices will prevail in the afternoon on the midway. This will be Youth Activities Day.

Saturday, July 4 - Patriotic and Homecoming Day. Returning natives will be introduced and honored. Gigantic fireworks display following last performance of pageant at Fairgrounds.

There will be 20 rides for young and old on the midway in Xenia and historical window displays will abound throughout the county.

Rimvydas "Frank" Silbajoris, Antioch College senior and a native of Lithuania, will be given a chance to study the nation which conquered his own. Frank is one of 52 students to receive a John Hay Whitney Opportunity Fellowship. He will attend Columbia University's Russian institute in the fall.

A farm-tractor tragedy struck Friday afternoon when John M. McAlmont, 64, a Xenia township farmer was killed instantly when a tractor he was operating plunged over a steep embankment on his farm on Hilltop Road off Fairground Road, three miles northwest of Xenia. He suffered a broken neck, crushed left chest and a fractured left shoulder. Services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Neeld Funeral Home in the county seat.

Army worms, those "pests with the ravenous appetites" are widespread in the county according to word from E. A. Drake, county extension agent, who revealed last week that reports of damage done by the pests were being received in his office. The worms are described as up to one and one-quarter inches in length, gray on top with a green underside. They look like caterpillars without hair and do most of their feeding at night. Drake is urging farmers to watch for their feeding marks on corn wheat and barley especially. Toxaphene, he stated, is the best poison control for them, but at present is in short supply in most stores. Your young corn crop can be destroyed almost overnight if your farm is unlucky enough to be invaded in numbers by the things.

Saturday afternoon's cloudburst was a welcome relief to the stifling heat. Did you notice that tantalizing aroma of the land and the rain during the storm? Storm sewer facilities were taxed to the limit in most county communities. Yellow Springs had a virtual river flowing down Xenia street.

If you're interested in a membership in the Greene County Community Concert Association, you'd better hurry. Saturday is accepted after that, it was the last day. No new members announced last week. Call Xenia 2-2191 or stop at Adair's Furniture Store on North Detroit Street in the county seat, pronto. Alex Templeton, the famed blind pianist will be one of next winter's featured performers in the series.

Pulchritude aplenty predominated Monday evening at the Christ Episcopal Church Parish House in Xenia. Seventy-six Greene County girls, all contestants for the Sesquicentennial Queen's crown gathered there to be briefed on the rules and regulations of the contest. The lucky girl and her court will reign for a full week of activities. And just to make the honor complete, $150 will be given her as a prize. Beauty may be only skin deep, but oftentimes it's very practical isn't it.

Col. Hostler Gives Inspiring Talk On Memorial Day

Yellow Springs' Citizens paused in work and in play May 30th to honor the nation's war dead as on-lookers and through participation in the Memorial Day parade, thus expressing their devotion to the ideals for which men of all wars have died fighting for their country.

Participating in the parade were marching units representing the Thomas R. Bailey Post 657 American Legion, the Bryan High School Band, Boy Scouts of America, Girl Scouts of America, Husky Hustler's 4-H Club and the Association for Civic Action of Yellow Springs and Miami Township. At Glen Forest Cemetery, Rev. Buckley S. Rude, pastor of the Presbyterian Church delivered the benediction.

Lt. Col. R. M. Hostler, USAF, who accepted the invitation extended by the Association for Civic Action, gave the principal address and his theme "Why Memorial Day" appropriately intended to awaken all Americans to their individual responsibility to reverse this solemn day for those who died in the service of their country, including the 24,000 soldiers who have lost their lives in the Korean War. Col. Hostler reminded the large gathering that too many Americans today look upon Memorial Day merely as a holiday, a day for fishing, a day to hold a picnic or even to repair the roof. He recounted that following World Wars I and II, entirely too many Americans forgot about the war dead in their intense selfish interest in stock market speculation, high wages and high profits.

Following the placing of a wreath in tribute to our heroic dead by Adjutant Stevenson on behalf of the Thomas Bailey Post 657, a farewell salute was given by the Legion firing squad followed by "Taps".

Yellow Springs Man's Cow Tests High in Milk

By George L. Zeis

The present farm program will be in effect for another year. Within this next year there will be many proposals as to what the new farm program should be.

From now until new proposals are incorporated into a farm program will be a time for deep, soul-searching meditation by farm folks and city people alike.

This, certainly, is no time for anyone to draw in their shell and say it is no concern to them. History shows that agriculture is always the first major segment of our national economy to go into a tail-spin.

If such were to be the case at the present time and farm income remain on a low plane, it won't be long before others will feel the effects of the farm slump.

Agricultural demand is a lot greater than some people realize. More steel is used in making equipment and materials for the farm than is used in the automotive industry.

Manufacturing such commodities as fertilizer and insecticides — most of which are used on the farms, involves the city worker whether he knows it or not.

What, for example, is involved in the manufacturing of fertilizers? One of the first projects is the mining of the raw products. Wage earners are involved in this operation.

People have to be employed to blend the various ingredients at the manufacturing plants. The wage earners are involved in this operation.

There are other steps involved before the product, fertilizer, finally reaches the farmer.

The point I'm trying to make is this. There are thousands of wage earners involved in the making of fertilizer. They may think they receive their pay checks from an industrial organization. Well, they do, but the farmers' buying power has a great deal to do with the size of the pay check.

They often forget one vital factor. If the farmers' purchasing power is reduced, he will, through necessity, start cutting expenditures. This reduced buying of the farmer will soon reflect back into the whole chain of industries. People will be laid off. That, then, can be the beginning of a very vicious cycle of events.

Day-dreaming economists, both government and private, are saying that there is nothing to worry about. I've heard them and so have you.

They are saying social security will take care of some who may be out of work. Unemployment insurance will take care of others. Other factors are related by the economists in their arguments to validate what they have said.

What they are saying may be theoretically correct. And it sounds mighty good when taken at face value.

But let's look at the farm situation factually. Millions are involved, both city and rural. All of us have a vital stake in the welfare of agriculture in this country.

So, when a new farm program is written within the next year we had better give it some mighty good consideration. It should be a farm program containing the thinking of all. Let us not pit one group of people against another by saying only one segment has a hand in the forming of a farm program.

Change Due In Farm Program By Next Year

This was a twelve cow herd with one cow sold during the year leaving 10.5 cows average on test for the year. Three of these were heifers that only filker part of the year.

RECORD-BREAKING GAS MILEAGE

for the driving YOU do!

This year's Chevrolet brings you the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history. And it's the kind of everyday economy that saves you money wherever and however you drive!

Inch along through heavy traffic. Roll up the miles in steady highway cruising. Long trips or short errands, byroads or boulevards, you get far more miles per gallon in this great new Chevrolet.

New high-compression power is the reason. Both the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine in Powerglide* models—and the advanced 108-h.p. "Thrill-King" engine in gearshift models—deliver more power on less gasoline. Acceleration and hill-climbing ability are greater, fuel consumption is lower!

This is the kind of economy that counts the most—important gasoline savings for the driving you do, together with lower over-all costs of upkeep. And along with it, you enjoy all the other advantages that only the new Chevrolet offers you. Come in and see for yourself!

*Combination of 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine and Powerglide automatic transmission available on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models only.
